BuildSense and Studio B Launch New Website

(Durham, NC) In celebration of its 11 year anniversary, BuildSense Inc., along with sister company Studio B Architecture, PC are launching their newly revamped website at www.buildsense.com or www.studiobarchitecture.com.

"We are truly excited to be releasing this new view into the work of BuildSense and Studio B," says Randall Lanou, President of BuildSense. "Clients will now be able to peruse our diverse product offerings and see the wonderful craftsmanship that our team produces."

In addition to new glamour shots, the new website introduces a blog that will allow clients and followers of green building & architecture to keep up with the latest happenings. Erik Van Mehlman, AIA, Principal at Studio B, adds "I am really looking forward to sharing what is going on in the world of sustainable architecture. It is a rapidly evolving field and the more information we can disseminate to our clients and trade partners, the easier it will be to advance well designed and built homes."

BuildSense, Inc., based in Durham, NC was formed in 2000 with a mission of making excellent, custom, beautiful, site and climate-specific houses available and affordable to more homebuyers. They design and build sustainable, energy efficient, and comfortable homes across Chatham, Orange, Durham, Wake, and Franklin counties.

Studio B Architecture, PC, located in Durham, NC was formed in 2008. Studio B's practice is focused on residential design from green prefab cottages to custom estate homes. Green building practices and systems are part of every home Studio-B designs.
